FARRELL WON THE FIRST.

The "Duke's" Homer in the Elev enth luning Broke the Tie.

(Special to The Evening World.) POLO GROUNDS, NEW YORK, MAY 30.—Seven thousand rooters saw the first game between Chicago and the Giants that began at 10.56 this morning and waged flercely for three hours.

A tie in the sixth inning, with each side drawing blanks from that point up it the hottest contest seen in New York this year. When Farrell stepped to the bat, the first man up for the Glants in the last half of the inning, every fan's heart stood still. A hit was much to expect, but when the "Duke" slammed the leather out for the circuit, winning the game, the air was fairly shattered with the cheers and yells that burst alike from grand stand and "Burke-alike from grand wille."

Other features of the game were Meekin's masterly twirling; Chicago's "sure thing" fielding, and Van Haltren's homer in the fifth that sent Hannon and Burke ahead of him. The absence of "Papa" Anson's mustache was not a feature, but rather a lack of one of his most prominent features. Hutchison, Chicago's crack pitcher, held the Glants down to seven hits. The batting order was as follows:

New York.
Bannon, r.f.
Burke, l.f.
Davis, lb.
Doyle, 2b.
Van Haltren, c. f.
Farrell, 3b.
Wilson, c. Anson, 1b.
